HASKELL'S CONTRACT IS NO GOOD

ATTORNEY GENERAL SAYS AGREEMENT WITH OKLAHOMA CITIZENS NOT BINDING.

Oklahoma City, Jan. 16.—That the Oklahoma City school board cannot obligate this school district for the payment of $70,000 without the consent of three-fifths of the voters in the district, that the school board is not empowered to make a binding contract with the state in the erection of a building on land owned or controlled by the board, and that the contract entered into between Governor C. N. Haskell and the school board for the erection of proposed quarters for the state officials on land owned by the school board, is not safe for the state, is the opinion of the attorney general's office rendered Monday.

The decision was made in reply to a letter from Senator J. B. Thompson of the senate building committee. The letter requested a decision as to the advisability of the contract being accepted by the senate committee on building.

Following the decision a meeting of the senate building committee was held Monday night at which time a resolution passed that the bill and resolution providing for the appropriation of $70,000 for the erection of the proposed building be reported back unfavorably to the legislature.

The contract as signed by Governor Haskell for the state and the president of the school board for that board, provides that the legislature pass an appropriation of $70,000 this amount to be expended in the erection of a building adjoining the present Irving high school building in East Fourth street, and on land owned by the school board; that the building shall be used as temporary quarters by the state officials, for a period of three years or less; and that at the expiration of three years or such time as the state capital building is completed, the building is to be taken over by the Oklahoma school board and the $70,000 is to be refunded to the state.

In lieu of the contract entered into by the school board and the former governor, the attorney general's office suggests that the school board lease the land to the state, that the state erect the building, and hold the land and building for a period of three years, or until such time as the school board and voters of this scholastic district refund to the state the $70,000 expended.

Mrs. Crowder and Miss Fisher returned from Tishomingo yesterday afternoon.

MENEFEE WITHDRAWS.

Ex-State Treasurer Decides Not to Run for Secretary of School Land Board.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Jan. 16.—Ex-State Treasurer Menefee has withdrawn from the race for secretary of the state school land board, and it is indicated tonight that the place will go to John R. Williams, manager of the Cruce campaign in the primary election and the present democratic campaign chairman, providing he will accept it.

Sam W. Stone of Durant, the present secretary, stated that if Williams would accept the place he would not be an applicant. One of the board members said today, however, that a change might not be made until after the legislature adjourned. The place pays $3,300 per year.

It is expected that Gov. Cruce will name the new state board of affairs during the week. F. E. Herring of Elk City was tendered one of the places, but declined for business reasons. He was a candidate for governor during the early part of the primary campaign. Lon Frame of Ardmore is another democrat mentioned. Eugene Morris of Duncan and Omar K. Benedict of Oklahoma City are mentioned for the republican place.

After Grandall's Former Place.

Jake F. Arnold, candidate before the democratic primary for representative, and S. C. Burnett, another well known Democrat, were out with petitions this week getting recommendations from friends to send into the county commissioners asking the appointment to the office of justice of the peace of this Township, recently made vacant by Joe Grandall resigning and being appointed clerk of the Allen county court. Both are making hard strides to land it, and their friends are busy. The matter will be decided by commissioners at their regular meeting the first Monday in February.—Allen Hustler.

MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL

RESIGNATION OF NIGHT PATROLMEN ACCEPTED—PAYING MATTERS PROVOKE LENGTHY DISCUSSIONS.

The city council held its regular meeting last evening and the usual amount of lengthy discussions were held by the city dads. The first question that came up for consideration was the question of running the street sweeper. A bid was submitted to attend to this line of work for the sum of $90 per month. Some of the council seemed to favor it, others wanted to buy a team and have the work done by one of the night firemen, while others wanted to try out the sweeper and see how much time would be required and what it would really be worth. This view finally prevailed and the matter passed up to the street committee.

The police committee held a short conference and recommended that the resignations of the night patrolmen be accepted. The recommendation was adopted by a unanimous vote of the council.

The next nut that was passed up to be cracked was the matter of delivering the paving bonds to the contractors. Every man had a different notion about it and the discussion took wide range covering every point about paving, the amount of asphalt that should be put in, the contract with the Shelby Downard Co., and their contracts with the sub-contractors. After two or three hours of rag chewing it was finally ordered that a committee of three deliver some $53,000 worth of the bonds to the

MAYOR APPOINTS NEW PATROLMEN

This morning Mayor Little appointed L. O. Harris and Pink Eaton as night patrolmen to succeed Walter Goynes and Charley Brady, whose resignations were accepted at the meeting of the council last evening. Of course their names will have to be presented to the next meeting of the council for confirmation, but as they are recognized as good men for the place and in thorough harmony with the chief, there is little doubt on that score.

J. W. BOLEN HONORED BY GOV. CRUCE

Yesterday J. W. Bolen received notice of his appointment as a member of the board of law examiners to succeed Judge T. D. McKeown. This is a recognition of his ability as a lawyer of which our fellow townsman should be proud, for the board is composed of men whose knowledge of law is unquestioned. Congratulations, Jim.

Commissioners Favor Tax Assessor. The meeting of the County Commissioners' Association at Oklahoma City has placed itself squarely in favor of the creation of the office of county tax assessor. They also favor direct taxation for road purposes.

Another Arrest for Bootlegging. Deputy J. O. Broadus came in from Allen yesterday with S. V. Morrison who is charged with violation of the liquor law. Jim has started out to keep Allen dry and the way he has begun operations looks like he will accomplish what he started to do.

like the fight of the Kilkenney cats will be enacted again. It is said that no fewer than fifteen members and forty-odd members of the house have congressional bees buzzing loudly in their caps and each fellow wants to carve out a district a little dif-want. Of course there are dozens of others outside the legislative hall who are trying to get in the way of the congressional lightning.

the small end. Hence his distorted vision. We may be free of the fault we condemn in another, but we know not his temptations and the influence of his environment. The main difference is that our strength and weaknesses are at different points of the compass.

It is indeed a filthy bird that be-fouls his own nest, and it is also a very sorry man who will feel ashamed of his native land and those with whom he lived and made his start in the world. Yet, every year sees hundreds of purse proud Americans, who regarding this country too crude and its people too uncultured for their aesthetic tastes, betake themselves to Europe, there to fawn at the feet of a decayed nobility in the endeavor to get into "society," and make of themselves a spectacle that at once excites the contempt and ridicule of both Europeans and right thinking Americans. Napoleon never won a victory that was as great as some of this "codfish" aristocracy regards some petty triumph in "society." And yet what society can be found equal to that of men who have achieved something in life? With Napoleon it was not a question of a man's birth when he made him a general. With him it was: "What has the man done?"

"Robin Hood."

Robin Hood is the personification of everything fascinating in outlawry so much so that the story of his adventures has been told and retold so often, both in fiction and in song, that it has become difficult to sift the fiction from the fact, for there is at least a ratio of ten to one in favor of the former. But that Robin Hood actually existed there is little reason to doubt, either in himself or in the personage of some other Englishman who masqueraded under that romantic name.

Few questions in literary history have given rise to greater diversity of opinion than that of "Who was Robin Hood?" Many writers assign an historical origin to the outlawed hero; others give him a mythological character; while others, again, regard him as purely a creature of the popular imagination. At any event, there is a lasting fascination in the romance attached to Robin. Probably the conception that most of us have about the outla wis founded upon or materially colored by his portraiture in Scott's "Ivanhoe."

The quasi-historical account is, according to Stukely, that Robin Hood was the son of William Fitz Ooth, earl of Kyme, in the Twelfth century; that, having lost or dissipated his property he took to the life of an outlaw, and with his merry men "fleeted the time carelessly as they did in the golden age"; that he was pious--after his own fashion; lived a free and active life; was much beloved by the common people and others who were in distress; was in and out of favor with the king, but always the latter with sheriffs and clerical dignitaries; and finally at a good old age was treacherously put to death.

The antiquary Stowe says: "About 1190 lived Robin Hood. He suffered no woman to be oppressed, violated, or otherwise molested; poor men's goods he spared, abundantly leaving them with that which by theft he got from abbeyes and the houses of rich carles; but of all thieves he was the prince and the most gentle thief."

The earliest mention of Robin Hood in literature is by Langland, in the middle of the Fourteenth century not 120 years after the date given for his death, and the manner of the references makes it plain that ballads concerning him were then familiar to all.

The theory that Robin Hood was no other than the earl of Huntingdon is supported by an alleged epitaph over the outlaw's grave at Kirkstree, Yorkshire, England: "Here underneath this laithstean Laiz Robert, Earl of Huntingdon. * * * piple kaud in Robin Heud."

As we see him in the old ballads, it is not his robberies that are so much recorded as his bravery, his simple piety, his loyalty to his comrades and his succor to the oppressed. The death of Robin Hood shows him pious and chivalrous to the last.
Feeling ill, he visited his cousin, the prioress of a nunnery, who undertook to bleed him--and did this so effectually as to kill him. He had only strength feebly to blow his horn, but that was enough to call his comrade, the faithful Little John, who in his rage besought his dying master for leave to burn the nunnery.
Robin refuses:

"I never hurt woman in all my life.
* * * Nor at my end shall it be."

And so he died and was buried at his own wish on the spot where fell the last arrow he shot--"with a green sod under my head, and another under my feet. And my bent bow by my side, which was music sweet."

FITZHUGH WITHDRAWS.

Tennessee Senatorial Situation Further Complicated--Independent Democrats Undecided.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 16.--The withdrawal of G. T. Fitzhugh of Shelby county from the senatorial race before the Tennessee Legislature, owing to a death in his family, has put the Independent democrats "up into the air," and has further complicated the situation. Briefly the situation tonight is this:

The managers of Gen. Luke E.
Wright, former secretary of war, have determined to give ex-Gov. Benton McMillin a further opportunity to win the prize. Prior to the Fitzhugh withdrawal it was sure that Wright would enter the lists Tuesday. Furthermore, the republican vote will be cast for a republican and the independent democratic vote will go partly for Senator James B. Frazier and the balance for Luke Lee, the ac-knowledgeed fusion leader. The regulars will make a determined effort to elect McMillin, and there is a possibility they may succeed. Meanwhile Senator Frazier is redoubling his efforts to capture the Fitzhugh vote and so many of the republicans as he can secure. It is said, however, that the republicans will vote for either Newell Sanders, chairman of the republican state committee or Hal H. Haynes, republican chancellor of the first division.

THE MANS' STORE

THE ELEMENT OF HON- ESTY IN ADVERTISING.

BY GEORGE S. BANTA, B. A.

Advertising is now not the unexpected but the expected thing of every legitimate business. We do not believe that a man has a burden of honest convictions about the merit of his goods if he refuses to say anything about them. It simply isn't human nature for a man to act that way.

And the converse of this statement is just as true, namely, that we look with suspicion upon a business operating "on the quiet." We would all suffer a nervous shock to meet with a man foolish enough to advertise a "shell game" because it would violate our instinctive feeling that the man who is seeking the light of publicity with his wares has something good to offer--something that you will want a second time.

I was told the other day by a friend of mine, a local furniture dealer, of a large shoe store in Chicago which does not advertising in the newspapers. It depends upon its location, one of the finest in the city, to bring it business. My friend thought that he was citing an example of a store that is making a great success without advertising. Yet, from the way in which he cited the instance, it was clear that in his own mind he recognized this as an exceptional case.

"But," you ask, "why should advertising my business make people look upon it more honorable and worthy of confidence?"

Listen. A man came into your office today whom you had never seen before. You dealt with him at arm's length because he was a stranger to you.
A few minutes later a business man you see every day came in and your attitude toward him was entirely different from that you showed toward the stranger. With one you were acquainted from frequent meetings and intercourse. The other one you knew nothing about.

It is exactly the same with advertising. The first advertisement may not go far toward getting your business into the confidence of your community. But keep on! It won't be long until your honest new-paper messages will tell and will, before you realize it, give you a credit rating in the public mind that you would never think of parting with.

NOT ASHAMED OF HIS GOODS

Why One Business Man Advertised and Prefers Newspapers to Other Mediums.

This is the manner in which a Michigan business man explains why he advertises and why he uses new-papers in preference to any other medium:

"I advertise in the newspapers because I am not ashamed of my goods or my work and to let people know about myself, my store and my stock; because I cater to the intelligent class and they read the papers, and I believe in increasing my business; because I can talk to more people through the newspapers at a greater distance in less time and at a more reasonable price than in any other way; because my newspaper advertising has brought me greater returns for the least expenditure of any advertising I have done; because when I write an ad I am not too stingy to pay for placing it in the best possible medium or to have it inserted so it is attractive; because I know my ad is seen and read by every one in the house where the paper goes."

Successful Advertising.

The secret of successful advertising is in making a business of it, not occasional, but all the time. It is necessary to have something worth advertising then advertise it right and results will follow. No amount of advertising will sell a thing nobody wants. The things offered must "make good" the advertisement. If you have no bargains to offer, you haven't learned your business. If you have, it is the province of an advertisement to call them to the attention of the buyer. An offer of a bargain, if made right, will attract the attention of the buyer and if the offer is made good, the next offer will be looked for. It is necessary to have the advertisement reach the possible customer. The country merchant has no better medium than a live local paper which goes into the homes in tributary country. Advertising pays if done right and backed up with the "goods."--Exchange.

An Observation.

"Ever notice it?" queried the man who asks questions on the installment plan.

"Did I ever notice what?" queried the innocent bystander.

"That the man who shakes hands the hardest is always the hardest to shake!" concluded the other.

GOOD PRINTING

Is a Persistent Influence Ex- erted In Your Behalf!

Every bit of printing that goes out to serve you makes some kind of an impression. Poor print-surely as would poor clothes, a poor store or shop or office. GOOD PRINTING will leave upon every mind an impression wholly favorable of its user.

Even if but one in a thousand of these "impressions" really tips the scales for business, for orders, for you--Good Printing will have thus paid for itself.

You can get it at this office--whether you want

Bulletin Received.

We have just received a copy of Bulletin No. 6 of the State Geological Survey consisting of two parts. The first part is a report of the operations of the survey for the last two years. The second part consists of brief articles on the different mineral resources of the state.

Since the organization of the survey several lines of work have been attempted. Through co-operation with the United States Geological Survey detailed maps and reports of portions of the oil and gas region have been prepared and are almost ready for publication; over 100 samples of clays have been collected from all parts of the state and tested in the government laboratory at Pittsburg, Pa.; road materials of the state have been examined and tested; educational collections of rocks, fossils and minerals have been assembled, catalogued and sent to over 50 of the state schools and high schools; detailed reports of many small areas have been made in response to petitions; a very large collection illustrating the mineral resources of the state has been installed at the state fair at Oklahoma City; investigations of water supply have been made for several towns and cities.

Part II. of the Bulletin contains brief chapters on coal, oil, natural gas, the different building stones, clays, sand and gravel, asphalt, Portland cement rock, glass sand, road materials, lead and zinc and several minerals of minor importance. Reports on oil, gas and asphalt, and the mineral resources of the Arbuckle Mountains are now in press and Bulletins on structural material, clays Refuses Application for Parole of Man Convicted at Durant.

Oklahoma City, Jan. 16.—In conformity to his announced decision previous to and since his inauguration not to grant a parole to any person convicted of selling intoxicating liquors, Governor Lee Cruce Monday refused the application of W. L. Kirkpatrick, of Durant, Bryan county, for a parole.

Kirkpatrick was convicted in the courts of Bryan county and assessed a fine of $50 and thirty days in jail. Friends of the convicted man immediately took the matter up with the new governor in an endeavor to secure a parole for Kirkpatrick. Telegrams and letters besought the chief executive to intervene and prevent the man from going to jail. Governor Cruce refused the parole. Kirkpatrick will have to serve the thirty-day jail sentence.

This is the first case of the kind to come up since Lee Cruce was inaugurated governor. Previous to his inauguration and since that time, Governor Cruce has made the statement that he will neither parole nor pardon any one convicted of selling intoxicating liquors.

Governor Cruce signed a number of expiration pardons Monday, granting citizenship to prisoners whose terms expire within a few days.

WARDEN DICK EXONERATED.

Special Committee of Legislature Reports on Investigation of Charges Against Penitentiary Official.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Jan. 16.—R. W. Dick, warden of the state penitentiary at McAlester, was completely exonerated upon every count in the charges filed by Dr. Love, former physician at the prison, in a report made to the legislature by its special committee today. The committee took up the charges serially and found that none were supported by evidence. Chief among the charges was that the warden had permitted gambling among the convicts, the committee's report showing that while the prison rules permit the playing of games when the convicts are not on working duty, there was a rule prohibiting gambling and that the warden saw to its enforcement and violations, if there were any, existed without the warden's knowledge.

As to the charge that a resort for drinking was permitted on state property, the committee reports that the house complained of is three-quarters of a mile from the penitentiary line and any infractions of the law is due to the lack of enforcement by the officials of Pittsburg county, and in which the penitentiary officials are now responsible.

Warden Dick is complimented upon his management of the prison, but the committee recommends that during the period required in constructing the buildings a separate board of control of three be appointed by the governor, to be confirmed by the senate, recommending that the sole duty of the board be to look after construction and control of the penitentiary.

The report says that the present board, composed of the Governor, Attorney General and president of the state board of agriculture, can not and have not given it the attention that it requires. A new board would relieve the warden of attention to construction matters, to the end of better management and control of the prison.

The committee also recommended that a hospital be erected outside the penitentiary for care of insane prisoners, and that authority be lodged with either the board or a set of officials to determine when inmates are insane, order their transfer to the hospital, and when regaining their reason order them again within the prison walls. The report was signed by all members, being Senators Roddie, Goulding and Brownlee and Representatives Edwards, Chambers and Smith.

Accompanying the report were several hundred pages of typewritten testimony, which will probably be printed as a state document. No action was taken on the report in each house. Later in the Senate President Pro Tem Thomas laid before that body an itemized statement of the committee's expenses including pay of attendants, witness fees, etc., amounting to $1,579.20. Among the items were $300 for Andrews & Day, attorneys for Warden Dick, and a like amount to George E. Black, attorney for Dr. Love. While explaining an advantage in the items to the state Senator Roddie did not press the matter of allowance and the accounts went over under the rules.

FINE SHOWING BY FIRST NATIONAL BANK

"De sun do move," said the old darkey preacher. Whether the sun moves or not, the First National bank of Ada does, as will be shown by a comparison of its report of deposits as shown by the statement of November 10 and the one found in this issue of the News. From $195,000 at that time the figures have climbed to $259,000. This is the best showing this bank has ever made, and is one of which the officers of the institution are justly proud. They are to be congratulated on the success of the business.

Newspaper Inaccuracies.

The following true story, prepared for The Commoner by a citizen of Beeville, Tex., illustrates the inaccuracies that sometimes creep into items of news. What you see in the papers cannot always be relied upon, even when there is no motive for misrepresenting:

William Longsdorf, an aged and one-time prosperous bachelor of Beeville, Tex., retrieving the habits of former days, rammed his feet into a pair of old boots which he had some years before cast aside. An obstruction in the toe of one of them, much to his delight, proved to be a $50 bill. The village newspaper man duly recorded the find in the columns of his paper, and also sent it to the nearest city paper of which he was correspondent. The telegraph editor, acting on the reflection that a naught, more or less, made little difference, added to the importance of the item by increasing the find to $500. In the same office the correspondent of the Associated Press abided. The item was passed to the patrons of that great news-gathering agency, but with the added improvement of a naught. Mr. Longsdorf's distant and remote relatives, some as far away as Germany, immediately sat up and took notice and he was recipient of many kind and congratulatory letters over his good fortune. Years passed, and the incident was forgotten by its original chronicler until one day he happened to pick up a family story paper, and among the flotsam and jetsam headed "Items of Interest" he observed the following interesting bit of news:

"William Longsdorf, an aged and eccentric bachelor of Beeville, Tex., has just found $50,000 in bank notes in an old boot, where he had placed them years ago and forgotten the incident."

But, most unfortunate of all! When Mr. Longsdorf took his $50 note to the village bank to get it changed the cashier was dubious of its looks, and forwarded it for inspection to the nearest subtreasury. It was returned with the following legend stamped across its face: "Counterfeit."—The Commoner.

Texas' Tomato Business.

During 1910 eighteen hundred carloads of fresh tomatoes were marketed in Texas, most of them being shipped to points in the north and east. The tomatoes put $1,400,000 into the pockets of the farmers who produced them, with practically no extra cost for cultivation, as in most cases they are planted with other winter crops, thereby requiring very little extra work.

The one dark spot on this bright agricultural picture, however, is the fact that these tomatoes were shipped to the canning factories of Maryland and other New England states, only to be shipped back again for consumption by Texans, who have to pay the freight both ways. With a production of over a million carloads of tomatoes alone, not to mention thousands of cars of other truck annually, and with cheap fuel in abundance and all other requisites for the building of factories, the shipping of our products to other states to be canned is not in keeping with the spirit of progress which is manifested in other lines of Texas industry.—Beaumont Journal.
